ActionCOACH
Heartland is a business

coaching and leadership training firm based in Iowa. Our coaches work with organizations with the public sector, private industry, government, education, and nonprofits. We believe that people are the #1 asset in every business and that every organization should invest in its people to help them grow.

Our team is in the “people-growing” business and we offer training, coaching and mentoring services certified by ActionCOACH and the John Maxwell Team, both industry leaders. When people grow, businesses grow, which in turn creates jobs and has a positive impact on the local economy. Heartland coaches use a collaborative approach with a focus on business basics to provide assistance with marketing, sales, operations, financials, systems, leadership, and professional development.

The mission of the Regional Economic Advancement (REA) division at Indian Hills Community College is to improve conditions in the Indian Hills Region through continuous learning, innovation, creativity, entrepreneurship, collaboration and visionary leadership. The Razor’s Edge Leadership Series and the L.E.A.P. Academy are both region-wide leadership programs offered through REA. REA also works with communities and organizations to offer customized leadership programs designed to fit their individual needs.

IOWA STATE UNIVERSITY
Extension and Outreach
Community and Economic Development

ISU Extension Community and Economic Development (CED) promotes the vision to accommodate quality growth in communities across the state. Local business owners, community leaders and residents benefit from the research and expertise of our specialists. The CED program helps organizations and local governments develop and build their capacity to make Iowa communities better places to live and work. Our vision is to assist the people of Iowa in finding understanding and answers that will lead to productive, healthy and sustainable communities.

Ottumwa Leadership Academy offers a 10-month, tuition-based program that provides participants an “MBA” in Ottumwa and Wapello County with targeted leadership development strategies. The mission of Ottumwa Leadership Academy is to develop effective leaders for the betterment of our community. Curriculum for the academy includes an in-depth look at subjects such as quality of life; criminal and civil justice systems and public safety; human, community and health services; local and state government; and business, industry and agriculture. Leadership curriculum includes topics such as ethical leadership, conflict management, presentation skills, and more.

Leadership Now 1st Annual Regional Conference

November 1, 2013
9:00 am–3:00 pm

Rural Health Education Center
Indian Hills Community College

Featured Keynote: James A. Autry

James A. Autry, a former Fortune 500 executive, is an author, poet, and consultant whose work has significantly influenced leadership thinking. His book, Love and Profit, The Art of Caring Leadership, won the prestigious Johnson, Smith and Kinsley Award as the book that contributed the most to executive thinking in 1992.

Autry is in demand as a speaker nationally and continues as an active author and executive coach. He has consulted for many different businesses and organizations in this country and abroad, and has conducted leadership workshops in Australia, Canada, Iceland, Nassau, The Netherlands, and Singapore. In early 2007, he helped develop the curriculum for the Servant Leadership Academy at Nyenrode Business University in The Netherlands.

Before taking early retirement in 1991 to pursue his present career, Autry was senior vice president of the Meredith Corporation and president of its Magazine Group. At the time of his retirement, Autry was regarded as one of the most successful and respected magazine publishing executives in America.

Autry lives in Des Moines, Iowa, with his wife, recently retired Lieutenant Governor of Iowa Sally Pederson, and their 27-year-old son. He has two grown sons from a previous marriage and is a proud grandfather of two.
